INTERVIEWER'S COMMENTS

Charne strikes us as an upbeat young lady who will go far in life. She has been working with children for over four years both as an au pair and a teacher. Charne is currently studying child nutrition and is interested in studying occupational therapy sometime in the future. She seems to be quite an open-minded person who adapts to new environments and cultures quickly. She also seems willing to defer to parents' ways of doing things and is dedicated to carrying out their wishes in all situations. Charne likes to have fun with children and is excited about getting involved in all sorts of activities and outings with them. Some of the things she likes to do include: arts & crafts, baking, swimming, playing sports outside (whatever sport the children prefer), and going to places like the zoo, the movies, restaurants, museums, trampoline parks, and playgrounds. Charne's former employer wrote a reference letter telling us that, "[Charne] is honest, dependable and incredibly hard working. Beyond that, she is an impressive young lady who is smart and always up for a challenge. She is the type of person who can jump into any situation and adapt to the environment." After meeting Charne we have no doubt that she will live up to a family's expectations and become an integral part of their lives. We are therefore happy to recommend her for any au pair position available.

Strengths
